

CONCLUSION

The five-day IBM workshop was valuable and enriched my learning experience. Throughout the workshop, I gained practical and hands-on training, developed new skills.

The sessions also provided an opportunity to interact with experts, clarify doubts, and improve my technical abilities. Overall, this workshop was an excellent opportunity for personal and professional development, motivating me to explore new methods to create chatbots and website without coding.

I am grateful to IBM and the organizers for providing this valuable learning experience, which will undoubtedly contribute to my academic growth and future career.